- One of my favorite classes, one of my favorite professors, great structure and instruction, loved the course! I particularly appreciated the appropriate workload, the discussion element in class, and the fairness with which Dr. Church would represent each thinker's views.
- I really enjoyed the course. This might be an unpopular opinion, but I would actually prefer to have an exam or two just because I tend to do far better on exams than papers. I also think that Dr. Church could have cordially cut our class discussions short just so that we could get through the material. I would not have minded if he stopped taking questions/answers from students earlier just so that we could move through the content. I still really enjoyed the discussion portions though. I don't have much background knowledge or experience with science, so it would have helped me to spend a class or two going over major scientific discoveries and experiments through history at the beginning of the semester.
- Dr. Church is an excellent teacher, he makes everything very clear to understand and helps engage the class in good discussion. He has taught me a lot about how to boil down complicated subjects with clear communication. He is one of the sweetest professors I have met and is incredibly helpful and flexible. I could not ever complain about the quizzes, they actually cover the material and test what we know, rather than testing us for niche details that do not actually matter (I have experienced those kinds of quizzes in other classes). My only critique is sometimes his lectures could get lost in the facts and lacked some excitement or interest--but the subject matter of science is quite dense so that can be hard to do. I still loved how much we talked about subjectivity and reality, it is very fascinating and actually overlapped with all my classes. I will take Church again!
- Great class! Very interesting without being overly difficult.
